Tomoki Hayata

Ph.D. Candidate in Business Administration
Graduate School of Business Administration, Kobe University

2-1 Rokkodai-cho, Nada-ku
Kobe 657-8501, Japan
221b010b@stu.kobe-u.ac.jp
hayatat-totrian.github.io
researchmap.jp/hayatat

EDUCATION

2024–present	Ph.D. in Business Administration, Kobe University, Japan (expected March 2027)
2022–2024	M.A. in Business Administration, Kobe University, Japan
2018–2022	B.A. in Commerce, Kumamoto Gakuen University, Japan

RESEARCH PROGRAM

My research examines how firms allocate resources and how those allocations adapt to their organizational and market environments. Strategy research has mostly studied allocation inside the firm; marketing research has mostly studied how customers respond to what firms offer and communicate. I treat the two as one problem: an allocation creates value only insofar as customers and markets respond to it, and that response indicates where resources should go next.

Inside the firm	How the pace, consistency, and direction of resource reallocation shape firm performance and the persistence of competitive advantage.
In the market	How firms' and sellers' positioning and communication, and their consistency with customer-generated content, shape customer response and demand.
Linking the two	How market response conditions the returns to allocation: the valuation consequences of visible marketing spending, and formal models of how firms divide resources between learning about opportunities and committing to them.
Methods	Panel-data econometrics and quasi-experimental designs; text analysis of platform data; formal modeling

RESEARCH INTERESTS

- Resource and capital allocation dynamics
- Corporate strategy
- Competitive advantage and its persistence
- Marketing strategy
- Marketing–finance interface
- Formal modeling of resource dynamics

REFEREED JOURNAL ARTICLES

International

2026 — Pacing and path dependence: How strategic consistency in capital reallocation shapes firm performance.
Journal of Business Research, 205, 115894.

Domestic (in Japanese)

2023 — Do higher-order resources generate sustained competitive advantage for firms? A replication study of Wibbens (2019).
With Toru Ogasawara. Kaikei Kagaku, e2022(6), 1–6.

PAPERS UNDER REVIEW AND REVISION

Cond. accepted	The context of consistency: How review volume and valence shape the performance effect of topic consistency. Marketing Letters.
Minor revision	Distinctive in what? Market-relative service message differentiation and demand on a peer-to-peer accommodation platform. Journal of Business Research.

R&R Advertising-spending visibility and firm value: Dynamic effects of a disclosure-regime change. Journal of Marketing Research.

R&R When does a focused message persuade? Attribute uniqueness, source credibility, and consumer choice. International Journal of Advertising.

Under review When firms miss their own targets: Capability-preserving resource reallocation. Journal of Management.

Under review Resource durability and rival access: The role of contractual flexibility. Production and Operations Management.

Under review When room for experimentation shrinks: Affordable-loss capacity and entrepreneurial execution commitment. Strategic Entrepreneurship Journal.

Under review Dynamic communication positioning with multiple reference points: Prototype conformity, exemplar distinctiveness, and market response. European Journal of Marketing.

SELECTED WORK IN PROGRESS

- Where, not how much: The direction of resource redeployment and the profitability of multibusiness firms.
  Examines how the direction of redeployment, rather than its magnitude, shapes the profitability of multibusiness firms, and how this relationship depends on the firm's customer base.
- Rivals as co-buyers: Access commitment and the availability of renewal inputs.
  A formal model of when committing to give rivals access to a firm's resource architecture raises the firm's value, because rivals' demand induces suppliers to develop the inputs needed to renew the firm's resources.

DATASETS

2021 Financial data for the past five years in EDINET: From consolidated financial statements prepared under Japanese GAAP (2015–2020). (in Japanese)
With Toru Ogasawara. Kaikei Kagaku, e2020(25).

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

2026 FGC–UGC consistency: Redundancy or corroboration? Australian and New Zealand Marketing Academy (ANZMAC) Conference, Auckland, New Zealand, November 2026 (forthcoming).

2026 The impact of qualitative consistency between seller messages and online reviews on demand. Japan Society of Marketing and Distribution, Summer Meeting, Kanagawa, Japan, May 2026. (in Japanese)

2025 Differentiation and conformity of seller communication messages: From the perspective of optimal distinctiveness. Japan Society of Marketing and Distribution, Winter Meeting, Tokyo, Japan, December 2025. (in Japanese)

2024 The effect of symbolic signals and environmental factors: How signaling factors on P2P platforms influence sellers' competitive advantage. Workshop on Empirical Research in Marketing, Tokyo, Japan, August 2024. (in Japanese)

2024 The moderating effect of debt on the relationship between capital reallocation and firm performance. Academic Association for Organizational Science, Spring Meeting, Tokyo, Japan, June 2024. (in Japanese)

HONORS AND AWARDS

2026 Best Research Paper Award for Doctoral Students, Kobe University

2026 Best International Paper Award, Graduate School of Business Administration, Kobe University

GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIPS

2024–present — JST SPRING (Support for Pioneering Research Initiated by the Next Generation), Japan Science and Technology Agency, Grant No. JPMJSP2148

TEACHING

Fall 2024 — Strategic Management, Kobe University (taught in Japanese)

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

Ad hoc reviewer — Journal of Retailing and Consumer Services (3 manuscripts, 2026)